Reds Release Priest

Maryknoll, New York, Mar. 12. Maryknoll headquarters reports Chinese Communists have released in good health Brother Albert Straubli of St. Gallen, Switzerland, arrested last November in Kwangtung Province.

Five other Maryknollers are still imprisoned and a number of others under house arrest in South China. — Associated Press.

Gromyko's "No" To Compromise

Paris, Mar. 12. Russia's Vice Foreign Minister, Andrei Gromyko, tonight flatly rejected Western efforts to compromise an agenda for a Big Four conference and submitted a Soviet counter proposal to the Deputies session here, officials disclosed.

Delegates from the United States, France, and Britain said they would have to study the Soviet proposals.

Specifically, Gromyko offered to change one point in the Soviet proposed agenda, eliminating the reference to "acceleration" of a German treaty.

M. Gromyko referred to his new proposal as a "concession." "In order to meet the Western powers' half way," an official who was present at the meeting, quoted Gromyko as saying, "we have dropped our insistence on accelerating a peace treaty and withdrawal of occupation forces."

M. Gromyko, in turning down the Western compromise—advanced here last Saturday—said it was "worse" than the West's original proposition. — Associated Press.

UNDER HOUSE ARREST

Karachi, Mar. 12. The Pakistan government tonight announced Air Commodore M. K. Janjira, Director of Personnel, Pakistan Air Force, has been put under house arrest for suspected complicity in the conspiracy revealed by Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan in Lahore on Friday.

The announcement categorically denied rumours that a large number of officers have been arrested. It assured that "when further action is taken, an official announcement will be made." — Associated Press.

COMMENT OF THE DAY

Question Of Guarantees

THAT the State Department and the Department of Commerce in Washington should be at variance over the United States trade restrictions against Hongkong is a curious and possibly not insignificant development. Certainly it points up the ludicrousness of the embargo so cavalierly applied. The inference is that State Department officials can appreciate the merits of the arguments advanced on behalf of Hongkong by British representatives, while the Department of Commerce, jealous for its original action, is loth to concede any of the position it has adopted, no matter whether it be prejudicial to common Anglo-American interests. United States Commerce and Defence officials are demanding guarantees from Britain that nothing in the way of raw materials and manufactured commodities, whether strategic or otherwise shipped from America to Hongkong, shall find their way to Communist China. That, of course, requires that we should give an absolute undertaking that nothing is smuggled out of the Colony into the mainland—something just as incapable of fulfillment as a Washington guarantee that there shall be no smuggling across the US-Canada border. Hongkong can confidently give one guarantee, and it should be sufficient to meet the wishes and fulfil the intentions of the Department of Commerce. The guarantee is that Hongkong will take every necessary and practicable action to prevent United States materials and commodities getting into Communist China. We fail to see what other assurances can be offered. It is inconceivable, for example, that Britain or Hongkong should be able to guarantee that American goods re-exported to Southeast Asian countries shall not be re-exported from those countries to the China mainland. Yet that is one of the conditions the Department of Commerce would inflict on us. It is a proposition which automatically removes negotiations on the embargo from the realm of reality. Moreover, it is a manifestation of the unwillingness of certain American officials to credit either the Imperial or Hongkong governments with good faith and that is something we are entitled to resent. We are fully conscious of moral obligations and it is not our wont lightly to disregard promises given. We are prepared to give reasonable assurances and to carry them out to the letter. Washington officials cannot expect more than that.

Retreat Of The Communists

THE war news from Korea continues to be good and latest appearances are that the United Nations offensive will be limited more by the extent of the Communists' withdrawal than by headquarters planning. The difficult question posed is why, after the Reds had massed in certain strategic areas, giving all normal signs of preparing for a counter-blow of some magnitude, they should suddenly change their minds and turn further north to the 38th Parallel? Is it a tactical withdrawal? A retreat to avoid the loss of an irreparable army? Or a prelude to political moves to bring about an end to hostilities? It is a perplexing situation and one which tantalises front line officers as much as lay observers. One thing, however, has become clear: The Communists cannot, even by weight of numbers, achieve a decisive victory, and knowledge of this may now be influencing the Peking regime towards the idea of a diplomatic and political solution. The UN Good Offices Committee is still in existence and there is no lack of opportunity for its services to be utilised if Peking is so minded.

GAVE AWAY ATOM BOMB SECRET

Self-Confessed Spy Gives Evidence For Prosecution

New York, Mar. 12.

A former employee testified today he gave an alleged Russian spy ring a description of an atom bomb that superseded the Hiroshima model and that the ring also obtained information on a fabulous space ship.

David Greenglass, 29, himself a confessed spy, related the space project story just before the end of the day's surprise packed session of the nation's first atom bomb spy trial.

The defendants, Julius Rosenberg, 33, his wife Ethel, 35, and Morton Sobell, 33, are charged with conspiring to spy for Russia in wartime, an offence carrying a possible death penalty.

Greenglass said Rosenberg told him he obtained information on what he called a sky platform project "from some of the boys," not otherwise identified.

Bishops Swear Loyalty To The State

Prague, Mar. 12.

Four of Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic bishops today took the oath of loyalty to the State and to the people's democratic regime, it was officially announced.

Three Apostolic delegates also took the oath. The four bishops, pledging their loyalty to the State as required by the State-Church laws introduced over a year ago, were:

Dr. Joseph Carsky, Bishop of Koice in Slovakia, Dr. Moric Piska, Bishop of Krutice Karlovy, in Bohemia, Dr. Stefan Trochta, Bishop of Litomerice, in Bohemia, and Dr. Ambros Lzick, Bishop and Apostolic Administrator of Trnava in Slovakia.

When the new church laws were introduced in Czechoslovakia at the end of 1949 the Church hierarchy, headed by Archbishop Hierat Beran, made it known that they would not take the oath of loyalty to the regime.

The whole of the over and middle clergy took the oath of allegiance in civic ceremonies in January and February last year, leaving the bench of bishops as the only churchmen not having taken the oath.

Archbishop Beran, Primate of Czechoslovakia, has been placed in confinement, according to an announcement on Saturday. — Reuter.

He said Rosenberg explained the project as involving the suspension of a large vessel in space where the gravity pull is small between the earth and the moon. He quoted Rosenberg as saying the platform, as a satellite, would hover over the earth.

The purpose of the ship, or how far the project ever was advanced, if at all, was not explained.

However, there has been talk of such an undertaking in scientific circles for some time. It might be used, if successful, as a platform for weapons, among other things.

Greenglass said it was only a month after the first atom bomb was dropped on Hiroshima that he gave Rosenberg a description of a newer type atom bomb.

He said he obtained the information while working on the highly secret atomic project at Los Alamos, New Mexico. He said he passed his findings on to Rosenberg in September, 1945. The older model Hiroshima bomb was dropped August 6, 1945.

When Greenglass casually added that he had compiled a 12-page description of an atom bomb, including sketches, Press

12 US Divisions Could Hold Breton Peninsula

Eisenhower Assesses The Chances Against Russia

Washington, Mar. 12.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower has told Senators that 12 American divisions, with sufficient air and sea support, could hold the Breton Peninsula of France against any Russian attack.

In confidential testimony given to Senate Committees on February 1 the North Atlantic Pact commander expressed confidence that "our 150,000,000 enlightened people can still whip 190,000,000 backward people" in Russia if war comes.

Asserting that the men in the Kremlin "like their jobs," Gen. Eisenhower said that if the Soviet leaders declare war now "they are really fools." They cannot win on the global picture instantly and quickly by a complete knockout," he said.

"Therefore, we do face a long, bitter struggle of attrition against the USSR and its 190,000,000 people, when united under such an attack, is still the most powerful thing on this earth under the Almighty Himself."

The five-star General said the decision on whether to use the atomic bomb would have to be made on the basis of whether its military value outweighed the moral disadvantages.

"If I thought the net was on my side," I would use it instantly," Gen. Eisenhower said.

Gen. Eisenhower said that if Russia seemed about to get control of Western Europe, this country would have to use everything "if it means every atom bomb in your stockpile."

Urging the Committees to approve sending additional US divisions to Europe, Gen. Eisenhower said that "so long as you have a few troops (in Europe) I would shake with respect to their safety in case we got in trouble."

"You give me a small army of a dozen divisions, for example, and there is no Russian army in the world, short of some catastrophe I could not possibly foresee, that could destroy them before we could do something about it," he declared.

Asked what he meant, Gen. Eisenhower added: "Evacuate them or go back to a place where they were safe."

"For example, you could put a dozen American divisions in the Breton Peninsula, where they can be covered by our own sea and air power, and the Russians could not touch them to save their souls."

The five-star General told Committee members that the Soviet writers in the Kremlin, instead of getting expected help from satellites, might find these border states "one of their greatest sources of weakness."

"I do not think the Russians in five short years have been able to put all of this stuff together," he said, "and I am sure about it." The general said, referring to the military potential of the Soviet Union, "I think the Russian people are the way from the Balkans right up to the Baltic will desert." — Associated Press.

Valiant Struggle To Save Ship

38 Persons Rescued

Honolulu, Mar. 12.

A skeleton crew of 12 men and an acting Captain struggled today to save the freighter Andre F. Luckenbach, which went aground on a Hawaiian reef in a rainstorm last night. Five passengers and 38 crew members were taken off in the darkness early today with the aid of Coast Guard vessels and a flare-dropping Coast Guard plane.

The 8,170-ton ship struck a reef off Kauai, northwesternmost of the Hawaiian Islands. It had just made an unsuccessful stop at Honolulu, to put ashore its sick captain, C. Holtman.

The voyage from San Francisco to Yokohama was resumed at 1 p.m. yesterday, with First Mate F. P. Dietrich of Seattle in Command.

Seven hours later disaster struck. The ship was some three miles off the Hawaiian port of Nawiliwili when it smashed into a hidden reef.

"We got a bad list to port," said Alfred Champion, a crew member. "We got orders to abandon ship."

Champion said it was raining and the seas were rough and high. One empty lifeboat was lost.

Champion said the acting captain, the engineer and his first assistant, the Second Mate and the purser and eight others stayed on board to try to save the ship.

Coast Guard vessels stood by after completing the rescue. Four of the five rescued passengers were members of Protestant missionary families en route to Manila. The fifth passenger was an employee of a San Francisco import-export company. — Associated Press.

UN Forces 4 Miles From Hongchon

REDS REPORTED TO BE "REELING BACK"

Tokyo, Mar. 13.

Allied troops rammed to within four miles of the Chinese defence bastion of Hongchon and entered two other key towns on the Korean front as Red resistance melted like the spring snow today.

But the Communists strove desperately to reinforce and resupply their beleaguered frontline troops, reported to be digging into new positions ahead of the grinding Eighth Army offensive.

Night flying American intruder bombers spotted approximately 3,000 vehicles on North Korean roads during the past two nights. "Enemy traffic was moving generally southward and was observed on all main roads in North Korea," the Fifth Air Force said of the more than 1,500 vehicles seen on Monday night and early today.

General MacArthur said the Eighth Army found only "sporadic enemy resistance" on Monday and front dispatches told of rapid enemy withdrawals all across the Korean front.

The Eighth Army spoke of "stubborn" resistance at only one point where the US First Cavalry troops probed one to two and a quarter miles into enemy lines west of Yangdok, where rail junction on the highway to Hongchon.

On the Cavalry's right flank, the 27th British Commonwealth Brigade sent patrols to within four miles of Hongchon, believed to be an anchor of the new defence line along the Hongchon river. Cavalry patrols drove to within one mile of the river itself southwest of the town.

To the right of the British, ROK troops were within six miles of Hongchon while still further east United States Marines moved on to high ground commanding the last pass leading to Hongchon, five miles to the southeast. Further east a US 2nd Division tank infantry patrol entered the road junction town of Yudong on a Central Korean road to the north while US 7th Division patrols moved into Changgyong key road junction at the Eastern end of the Allied attack front.

They poked out of both towns for the night after finding no enemy troops in them and took up positions on the high ground controlling them.

ROAD BLOCK RAMMED
The 2nd Division troops rammed through a Communist road block to reach Yudong and received small arms fire on its return.

UP correspondent Peter Kalischer reported from 8th Army headquarters that Chinese and North Korean Communist soldiers along the 70-mile central front, leaving dummy emplacements and straw men behind them in at least one sector. The withdrawal was mysterious and in some cases unexpected, for the Reds were giving up positions they had defended bitterly only a day before.

The US 7th Division commander, Maj.-Gen. C. B. Ferenbaugh, said: "We've got the enemy reeling back, but he still is not knocked out. We're keeping our guard up."

General Ferenbaugh's remarks were reflected in the caution with which the Allied forces slowly pushed their front forward. They recalled the sudden counter-offensive the Chinese launched last November under similar circumstances which sent the 8th Army reeling all the way back to Seoul from the Chongchon River.

It appeared to some frontline officers that the Hongchon River just ahead of the UN forces on the West Central Front might be the new main line of Red resistance or springboard for attack. — United Press.

SOUTHWARD MOVEMENT
Tokyo, Mar. 13.
Night flying American intruders spotted more than 1,500 enemy vehicles on North Korean roads on Monday night and early today and claimed the destruction or damage of 50 of them. It was the largest number of vehicles reported in the past two and a half months, although 1,400 vehicles were seen on Sunday night.

"The enemy traffic was moving generally southward and was observed on all main roads in North Korea," a Fifth Air Force announcement said.

The Air Force reported another 75 vehicles destroyed during daylight attacks and an equal number damaged, bringing to approximately 200 the total number of vehicles destroyed or damaged up to date today.

Air Force and ground-based planes flew more than 1,000 sorties again on Monday as the

Riots By Spanish Workers

FRANCO SUMMONS HIS CABINET

Barcelona, Mar. 12.

General Franco today called a special Cabinet meeting at his palace in Madrid to consider the riots which flared today in Barcelona.

Meanwhile, the Barcelona demonstrators militated before the Provincial Civil Governor's palace, demanding a reduction in the cost of living—higher here than anywhere else in Spain.

Civil and armed guards staged a baton charge beating up several demonstrators. Authorities declined to state the number injured.

The demonstration climaxed a city-wide general strike involving all workers except essential gas, electricity and waterworks employees. The strikers are said to be supported by their employers.

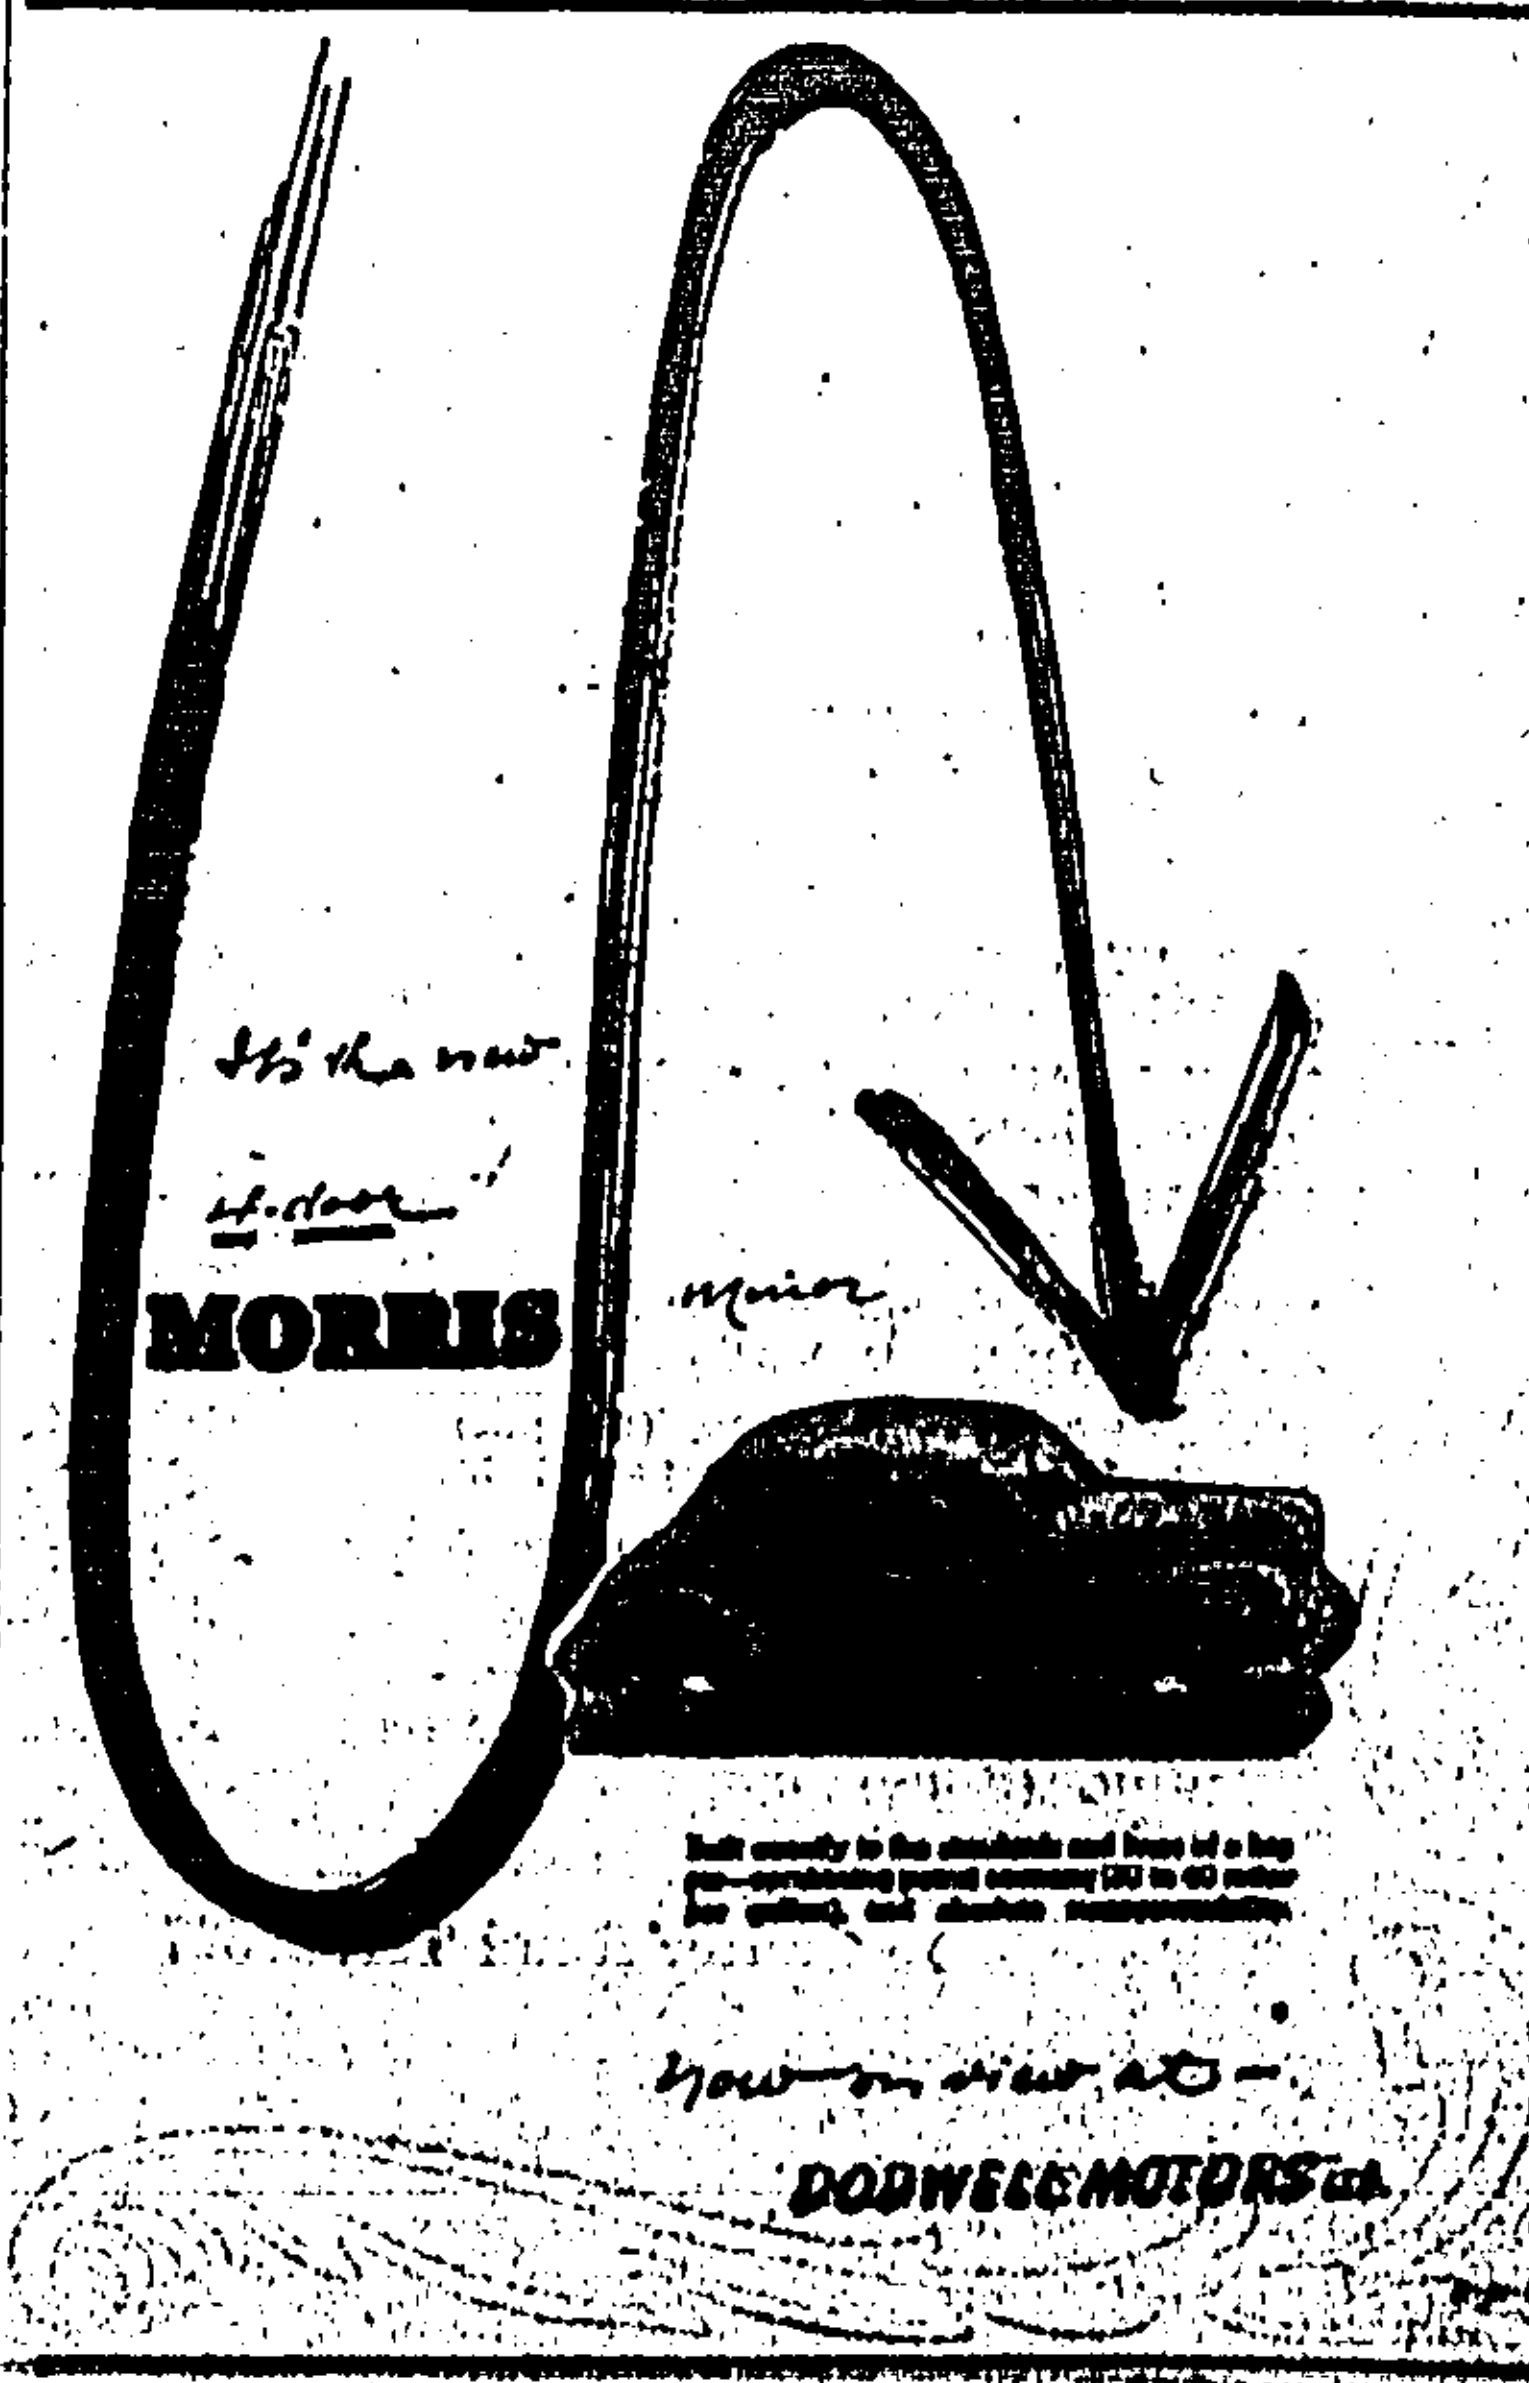

MOVEMENT SPREADS

By early afternoon the movement had spread to the surrounding industrial cities of Badalona, Tarrasa and Sabadell.

Guards armed with pistols, rifles and truncheons patrolled Barcelona's central avenues. It was feared authoritatively that the civil governor has requested urgent reinforcements from Zaragoza, more than 200 miles away.

Meanwhile he issued a manifesto declaring that the walkout was instigated by "professional agitators," many of whom, he said, have been arrested.

The Governor continued: "I can assure you that the government has put into my hands all necessary means to end radically any kind of disturbance. You may be assured these means will be employed rapidly and firmly." — Associated Press.

SCAP Has New Theory On Korea

Tokyo, Mar. 12. Many staff officers at General MacArthur's General Headquarters now think in terms of an end to the Korean war only as part of a worldwide settlement or an explosion of the East-West conflict.

The officers say privately that unless the United Nations put in large reinforcements, a military decision cannot be forced locally and the end can only come about by diplomatic means—or an ultimatum to Russia and China that a continuation means total war throughout the world.

General MacArthur himself said for the first time last week that a stalemate was inevitable in Korea and appealed to world leaders to solve the problem, which was beyond his authority.

But despite the claims that at least 100,000 Chinese Communists with nearly as many North Koreans have become battle casualties in the last three months, there is no indication that the Chinese Communists are pulling out of Korea or are abandoning the struggle.

In fact, an intelligence officer said today that new troops are reported moving north to Manchuria from China Proper.

There they will join the huge pool on the Manchurian border from which the Chinese commanders in Korea draw their front line forces.

HUGE RESERVES

The officer said that the Chinese High Command had deployed two Field Army formations straddling the Manchurian frontier vertically—with the minimum forces required for any situation in the battle-line and the maximum in reserve just north of the Yalu River, where they are safe from Allied attack.

He added that the Chinese Communists still had more men in this formation on the border and in Korea than were needed for the job.

He estimated that they had 33 or 34 divisions in the line and anything from between 50 and 100 divisions in reserve.

In reply, Marshal Tito said he was happy that Italy took the same attitude as Yugoslavia to the situation in this part of the world and the maintenance of peace here.

SOVIET SUBMARINE BUILD-UP

London, Mar. 12.

Mr L. J. Callaghan, Financial Secretary of the Admiralty, told the House of Commons today that Russia had more submarines than Nazi Germany, and that they would constitute a "threat" if Russia secured Atlantic bases.

Mr Callaghan stressed the submarine danger and the means being taken to meet it, as he appeared in the Commons to outline the Navy's budget of £278,000,000 for 1951-52.

He said: "We have to look at who are building submarines to know what the potential danger is. Numerically (Russia has) a larger number of submarines than the Germans ever had, but there are factors which offset that. Unlike the Germans, the Russian submarines are distributed in the Baltic, the Black Sea, the North Sea and the Pacific.

"And they are not easily transferable from one sea to another.

"That is an important element. But there is no doubt that they will constitute a grave threat, especially if the Soviet Union is permitted to secure naval bases in the Atlantic."—United Press.

New Atomic Bomb Tests To Be Made

Washington, Mar. 12.

The Atomic Energy Commission chairman, Mr Gordon Dean, told newsmen today that new atomic test explosions would be held "later on" in Nevada, Eniwetok and "other places".

Asked about the "other places", he said it is possible the weapon would be taken "out into the middle of the ocean" and dropped off.

Mr Dean said Conrad McKelvey, employee in the Commission's South Carolina office, had resigned after admitting he had let it be known that the Commission planned to build an atomic plant there. Because of this, no one bought land near the new plant site.

Mr Dean said no hydrogen bombs were exploded at the recent Nevada tests but he would not discuss them otherwise. The Commission deliberately was giving no clues because it wanted to confuse Russia. The Commission had "evidence" the Soviet was confused by the Frenchman Flats tests in Nevada.—United Press.

WEN-ROZARIO MATCH WAS THE BEST OF LAST NIGHT'S SEMI-FINALS AT RECREIO

By "ARGONAUT"

In the opening semi-final matches of the Colony Badminton Championships at Recreio yesterday, C. C. Wen of Kowloon Tong scored a glorious three-set triumph over Recreio's youthful champion, Francis Rozario, to reach the final of the Men's Junior Singles event.

Prolonged applause from the packed hall at the end of the gruelling battle was suitable acclamation of it being the best match of the evening, in which both victor and vanquished were equally deserving of praise.

Wen's victory was another distinct feather in his cap, showing that his recent upset win over University's L. H. Tin was no flash in the pan. His greater steadiness, superior courtcraft and accuracy of strokes, stood him in good stead against a youthful opponent, whose only lack was accuracy and steadiness.

The first set saw both contestants disputing every point until 4-4, with Rozario holding his own with full lobs to the base. At least five of these, however, would have gone out had Wen left them.

Rozario took the next point with a clean drop shot, and then slipped into four errors and a half court lob, to allow Wen to forge ahead to 9-5.

Fighting back tenaciously, the Recreio boy forced Wen to net a cross drop shot and with two successive powerful smashes narrowed the score to 8-9.

On the changeover of service, however, Rozario smashed out and gave a half court lob that was easily put away. Leading by 11-8, Wen went all out for the final points and, after a successful passing lob to his opponent's backhand, romped home with the first set at 15-8, from three successive errors by Rozario.

FORCED THE PACE
Forcing the pace in the second set, Rozario streaked to an 8-0 lead and, although Wen was presented with four points to reduce the lead to 4-8, the strain of the first set was taking effect on him. Wisely, he conceded the set at 5-15, saving himself for the rubber.

Rozario opened the final set by taking the first three points, but then lobbed out and from there on lapsed into a series of erratic shots and inaccurate lobs.

The Junior League Playoff Series

By "GRANDSTAND"

The Blackhawks chalked up their first victory in the playoff series when they noised out Rexes 6-5 on Saturday aided by a first inning splurge of four runs manufactured around a trio of bunched up blows.

Winning pitcher Joey Graca was in rare form and yielded only one hit which was a safe bunt by A. M. Wabab in the initial canto and paved the way for one Rexes' run.

For the rest of the game, Graca hurled hitless ball and fanned five in the seven inning tenure, while opposing slapper A. K. Ismail gave up eight hits, of which Eddie Loureiro of the Hawks registered three and E. Xavier accounted for a pair.

The Rexes nibbled away at the four run handicap and drew up to one run behind when the last chapter opened up. Miskin Samy drew a walk and was advanced to second base on a grounder by A. Dilka.

A Rakha failed to punch over a hit for Samy to score the tying run, and whiffed in the bargain. Y. Tibe drew a pass to first base after working up to the full count, but Samet Samy swung at three pitches and the ballgame was over.

SETBACK
The Delawares had a setback in their present hopes when they blew an early lead in their game against the Dragons, to succumb finally by 7-4. By virtue of this triumph, the Dragons are practically assured of the Junior title. L. P. Lam found difficulty in hurling to the dismissive Delawares and walked 11 during the game, but he was backed by slow hitting and only two blows penetrated the defense for hits.

Walking six in a row in the opening canto would normally produce a cluster of runs for the batting side, but the Delawares failed to take advantage of the opportunity and only scored a single marker, two potential runs being erased on rash base-stealing.

The Dragons evaded up matters in their batting half when Harry Louie belted out a hit to score Peter Tlu, but were still one run behind in the second as two Delawares slid over the plate on a couple of wild pitches.

Peter Ho's rousing homer in the third was the turning point for the Dragons, and after they had denied the plate three times in that frame they added two more in the fifth to clinch the game.

Dragon receiver Harry Louie was again in slugging form by clouting two safeties in three times to hike up his batting average for the series to an astronomical .871 and unless this slugging happens to be struck by lightning, nothing will stop him tucking away the batting title. The nearest threat to Louie is Hawk third-sacker Eddie Loureiro who has collected five hits in 13 times at bat to earn a .385 batting average. Louie's .477 batting average is well below Louie's.

OTHER MATCHES

In the Ladies' Doubles, Winnie Cheung and Ullian Khoo proved too strong for Mrs Olga Silva and Marie Ribeiro, winning by two straight sets, 15-1 and 15-5.

Johnny Pomero, Jr. of La Salle eliminated Wah Yan's Ko Wai-bong in the Schoolboys' Singles semi-final. After losing the first set 9-15, Ko put up a gallant fight in the second set and was leading 11-9 when his drop shots failed him, going constantly into the net.

Defending Men's Senior Doubles champions, W. F. Poo and C. K. Lee, moved into the final round for their second defence of the title, with a two-set victory over Robert Tay and Y. P. Young.

With perfect high services, drops and smashes, Wen gradually took control of the game, forging ahead from 3-3 to 5-3, 7-3 and 10-3.

Rozario made a belated bid to stem the tide and excitement ran high among the crowd as he took four points on his service to bring the score to 7-10 and then held on grimly as five services changed hands without any further point being added.

A beautiful net retrieve to Rozario's smash and a sideline smash gave Wen two well earned points, after which there was little to stop him from winning the set and match at 15-7.

LAM FAMILY WINS
The inter-family Junior Mixed Doubles semi-final partnership of M. T. Lam and Dorothy Lam and the mother and son combination of K. Y. Tso and Mrs W. K. Tso saw the Tsoes putting up a spirited resistance before finally going down by 15-9, 9-15 and 4-15.

Young Tso put up a brilliant performance in the first set, catching his opponents repeated with accurate and well-timed backhand half court cross flicks. M. T. Lam appeared to be slightly awed by the occasion and was unable to move in the first set. Gradually warming up to his usual form, and with Dorothy Lam playing a brilliant attacking game at the net, he took the second set comfortably at 15-9.

With the score at 6-4 at one stage, the Lams served unbrokenly to 14-4, adding nine points on their two services.

Concentrating their attack on the forecourt, the Lams had the Tsoes on the retrieving end in the final set. M. T. Lam's backhand cross net drops routed the Tso combination, catching them time and again on the opposite side of the court. Young Tso cracked up as the score mounted against him and conceded the final set at 4-15.

Their strong defence, in which Poo was particularly prominent, and their accurate services held against the aggressive play of their opponents, who made far too many errors and lacked understanding.

After losing the first set 9-15, Tay and Loong put up a spirited fight in the second set. From 4-6, they moved on to 9-9, only to throw away two services, and allow Poo and Lee to catch up to 9-9.

The challengers slumped into another series of errors to enable the champions to forge ahead to 13-9 and finally set and match at 15-11.

Prophets Go Astray On Blarney Shield Series

By "HANLINCODE"

Saturday afternoon, although being very hot for Rugger, certainly drew the spectators to Happy Valley Club ground to see the first rounds of the Blarney Shield Seven-a-Side Charity matches played off.

The spectators went hoping to see their favourites win and, although it was impossible for all the teams to do this, one must say that every seven certainly tried their very best. There were some exciting games in the course of the day and some very close finishes, probably the closest being the match between the Civil Service and the 34 LAA when, with the score at 10 points to 9, the Civil Service still had a chance of adding two points to their last try.

However, the kick went wild so 34 LAA passed into the next round.

The HAOC got a walk over when their opponents, the 25 Field, could not turn out.

On the afternoon's play, I think that the best two teams on view were the Wiltshires, who defeated the Leicesters, and the Club "A" who defeated the 14th Field "B".

Of course it is difficult to forecast any set of sevens, but these two teams should pass into the final.

Wayfoong did not show the form that was expected of them but we will await Wednesday's game against the 3rd Tank "B" with some eagerness.

SATURDAY'S RESULTS
Here are Saturday's results: KOSB 25, Soccerites 0. Leicesters 3, Wiltshires 9. Tamar 13, Navy "C" 0. 27 HAA "B" 9, Talkoo 8. KSLI 8, 58 Medium 5. RAF "A" 3, Club "B" 0. Dampier 5, 27 HAA "A" 8. Police 3, REME 8.

Club "A" 11, 14th Field "B" 0. 3rd Tank "A" 6, Ewo 3. 14th Field "A" 14, 24th Field 0. Stanley RA 3, 3rd Tank "B" 9. Wayfoong 6, 23rd Field 3. Tamar 13, Navy "C" 0. RAF "B" 6, KOSB "E" 8. Civil Service 9, 34th LAA 10.

Last night's results were: KOSB "A" 6, Willis 3. Tamar 11, Talkoo 0. KSLI 3, RAF "A" 0. RAOC 0, 27 HAA "A" 9.

So that means that the Wiltshires are now out of the tournament and KOSB have two teams in the finals on Saturday. Such is seven-a-side rugger, the most surprising thing and the team that plays hard can often upset the team full of stars such as happened last night.

Aerated Fruit Drinks For Your Refreshment Your Pleasure and Your Sparkling Health

HE above machine illustrates an important phase of modern Aerated Water production, namely, the introduction of the exact requirement of pure Carbon Dioxide, automatically and at high speed, to each bottle already containing the necessary flavouring syrup and specially purified de-aerated water.

Apart from being a preservative, Carbon Dioxide is recognised as possessing definite therapeutic qualities. It accentuates flavour, stimulates the appetite and aids digestion. In short, it is good for you and the name WATSON'S means sparkling Refreshment at its best.

Britain Planning To Build 232 New Ships For The Royal Navy

London, Mar. 12.

Britain will have 232 new ships in her Navy when the current and new three-year naval programmes are completed, Mr James Callaghan, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, said today.

The new ships will range from the most powerful fleet aircraft carriers, Eagle and Ark Royal, both of 36,800 tons, to fast patrol boats.

Eagle, Britain's latest and biggest fleet aircraft carrier, is now undergoing sea trial. Work is being pushed on with a similar carrier, Ark Royal, and four Hermes light fleet carriers, Mr Callaghan said.

There will be altogether six new aircraft carriers, eight new destroyers, 24 frigates and nearly 200 minesweepers and patrol boats, he added.

In addition to 60 cruisers now being modernised, about 70 destroyers would be either modernised or converted for anti-submarine work.

Today, Britain had 12 carriers. With the present programme she would have 18. Three in the Commonwealth made a total of 21.

Mr Callaghan said that the Navy could be mobilised now. He went on to say that the balance of sea power had clearly tilted away from Britain very dramatically in the last 10 years.

"For the first time in many hundreds of years our fleet has been out-distanced and out-paced by a friendly ally," he declared.

Britain's part in the contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation would be powerful and significant, but it would be doubled by the Americans.

At the start of the last war the British and American fleets were roughly equal in size and manpower.

But the Americans, starting with five carriers, finished with 98 compared with Britain's 17. They also finished with about double British strength in destroyers and frigates after starting at about level.

Today, Britain had 140,000 to 150,000 men in the Navy compared with the United States' 850,000.

"The North Atlantic Treaty had turned what would be a hard, grim and uncertain battle of the Atlantic into a 'confident prospect of success'."

MORE TO COME

Other points he made were: The £275,000,000 for which he was asking did not take into account the additional programme laid down by the Prime Minister, Mr Clement Attlee, in January.

Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa now had between them very sizeable forces of aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and frigates. They were a great addition to the British Navy's potential strength.

Mr Callaghan for locating submarines "aimed at Soviet all in one equipment."

He described as unprecedented the fact that the British aircraft carrier fleet now had 1,500 deck landings in Korean waters without failure or accident.

None of the ship's aircraft had been "unrecoverable" for more than two days.

ISBRANDTSEN

Understanding between nations and peoples, fostered by the bonds of industry and commerce—the necessary flow of goods that keeps the wheels turning all over the world—is basic to peace.

It is our fervent hope—one which we believe is almost universally shared—that the statesmen on both sides of any and all existing disputes and misunderstandings will get together and set things to rights. We still hold to the view that mutual trade does most to promote friendship and understanding between nations and peoples, and that we, as business men, should argue that point wherever and whenever we can:—Isbrandtsen.

Japanese Move On Automatic Licensing

Tokyo, Mar. 12. The Japanese Government today enforced partial suspension of the automatic licensing system for imports because of the shortage of exchange funds. The suspension applies to the entire dollar area and pound sterling area as well as Argentina and Sweden of the open account area. Imports under the automatic approval system up to March 8 amounted to $430,000,000. Huge imports licensed had resulted in unbalanced import of goods. The Minister of International Trade and Industry, Mr. Shigemitsu Yokoo, said that the suspension of the automatic approval system would be lifted next month.—Reuter.

London Disappointed By New American Decision On Tin

London, Mar. 12.

British tin circles were not unduly surprised by the Washington announcement today that the United States Government was to become the sole importer and seller of tin.

"After the recent attack on tin producers by the United States Senate Preparedness Subcommittee and the decision last week to stop the stockpiling of tin, the latest move was regarded as logical.

The main feeling in London was one of disappointment that the United States should take major decisions on tin as a commodity immediately before the International Conference on the metal, due to open in Washington on Wednesday.

It was felt that the United States had hardly helped to obtain the right atmosphere for the conference by taking important decisions and making statements which were bound to cause resentment and controversy.

In some circles it was felt that the chances of a successful outcome to the tin talks had definitely been jeopardised by the American action.

The London tin market was not particularly upset by the news, which had no effect on cash tin but caused prices of forward tin to decline moderately.

Dealers were not emphatic about the future price outlook and generally considered it was premature to say what long-term effect on prices the United States decision would have.

It was thought possible that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation might purchase through dealers, in which case the price setback might be only temporary and not unduly severe.—Reuter.

TO LOWER PRICES

Washington, Mar. 12. The Government's action in taking over as sole buyer of tin for United States consumption and ordering that all supplies be put under allocation control beginning May 1 was designed to bring down the price of foreign tin on which the United States depends for its supplies.

It designated the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make all United States purchases of foreign tin.—United Press.

FEARS SCOFFED AT

New York, Mar. 12. Trade circles here scoffed today at Bombay fears that the decline in the tin price would be followed by a similar trend in copper and silver.

One of the leading silver sources here pointed out that there is an actual shortage of silver, with the trade scouring the world for supplies available at the ceiling price of $0.10. But the reverting to a price of $0.05, the trend is definitely in the other direction, although any increase would require Washington alteration of ceiling price.

Copper sources pointed out that copper demand is active and the metal still in short of supply, with the Government still stockpiling.

Indicative of the trend are: firstly, the National Production Authority made new reductions in the use of copper by fabricators, limiting use during the quarter beginning April 1 to 75 percent of the basic period consumption; secondly, the trade here reflected growing support for the proposed increase in the price of Chinese copper by 3 1/2 cents a pound to 28 cents a pound in return for a Chinese pledge to double production.

Trade sources pointed out that the price of tin reached heights out of proportion before the United States decision to cease stockpiling, while on the other hand they regarded silver and copper prices as more closely reflecting supply and demand.—United Press.

Stock Exchange

Bullness

London, Mar. 12. The Stock Exchange was dull and mainly lower today. Declines of a few pence were general among industrials, especially textile and engineering shares. Oil lost ground.

British Government bonds advanced fractionally. Rubber and tin stocks checked up, small gains against the trend.

NY COTTON FOLLOWS PATTERN

New York, Mar. 12.

Trading in cotton futures was cut to the same pattern established last week. Nearly months held tight to the ceiling price but new crop positions continued to slide off, establishing losses up to $7.50 a bale.

The sky-high prices in the foreign markets are expected to materially increase the foreign acreage while domestic plantings are also expected to show a big increase. That thought was backed up by the Agriculture Department's announcement that production loans to farmers had been increased 44 per cent for the three-month period ended Feb. 1. Land preparations made good progress in most areas last week, according to Government sources. Rains materially aided land preparations in Western Texas and Oklahoma.

The acreage picture shapes up this way. The Government established a goal of 28,535,000 acres. A recent private survey indicated plantings of only 26,700,000 acres but the survey did specify that much will depend on weather and soil conditions at the time of planting. On the basis of the Government goal, the crop this year could run between 13,600,000 and 18,000,000 bales, depending on the yield per acre. On an average of 26,700,000 the crop could range from 12,700,000 to 16,600,000 bales. Cautious crop students, however, refused to become either optimistic or pessimistic on acreage talk, pointing out that it is still too early to draw a definite conclusion either way.

The market opened unchanged to off 22 points. New crop months seasawed thereafter. The market closed around the lows to off 65 points. Prices closed today as follows:—

"Get Out" Demand In Cairo

Cairo, Mar. 12.
The Egyptian Prime Minister, Mustafa el Nahas Pasha, today reiterated Egypt's demands for the evacuation of British troops and "the unity of the Nile Valley" (uniting the Sudan with Egypt).

Expressing regret at Mr. Ernest Bevin's resignation as British Foreign Secretary, the Prime Minister told the newspaper, Al Balagh: "I am sure he wished to put an end to the state of doubt existing between our two countries and to replace it by an agreement and better understanding."

"It is for Britain to meet our national demands for the immediate evacuation of British troops and the unity of the Nile Valley under the Egyptian Crown."

"That is essential to the maintenance of peace and security in the Middle East," he said.

COMMONS QUERY

London, Mar. 12.
A Labour Member of Parliament asked the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Herbert Morrison, today to tell the Egyptian Government to drop the demands for the evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal area.

The Member, Mr. Thomas Reid, said that Britain was bound by treaty to aid Egypt if she were attacked and the Suez Canal area was the place which British and Egyptian forces might have to defend in a sudden emergency.

Mr. Kenneth Younger, Minister of State, replied that both Britain and Egypt were very conscious of the need to ensure the proper defence of this area. He recalled an earlier statement to Parliament that discussions were going on between the two Governments. He added that these talks were aimed particularly at reconciling the need for active defence measures in the Suez Canal area with the political difficulties raised in Egypt by the presence of foreign military forces in that area.—Reuter.
